

turned on — and stop in precisely the same position as when it began if turned off before the cycle is completed.

Its cylinder housing boasts a mathematically engineered groove for the spring-loaded watch-holder, making it applicable for almost any size of watch.

No longer do watch-lovers have the problem of wondering what to do when their perpetual-calendar watch, for example, suddenly stops because it hasn't been wound regularly. Calendars can only be updated by going forward, according to a very precise procedure, and any mistake in setting could mean that the watch has to be returned to the company that made it for repair — but not any more, with a Scarola del Tempo case.

As well as keeping your watches in perfect running order, the Scarola del Tempo case also offers solid protection if you happen to travelling with them. But just as you would not expect to find a collection of top-class jewellery being transported in a drab-looking box or carrier bag, so you would expect the receptacle for your prize watch collection to be their equal, in terms of style and quality.

And Scarola del Tempo cases are as much a reflection of the taste and personality of their owners as top-of-the-line luggage. Like luxury

Mod.8

Mod.8-8